Thinking about the Holocaust 60 Years Later

Thinking about the Holocaust 60 Years Later
A Multinational Public-Opinion Survey
March - April 2005

Introduction

The data reported here are from a new American Jewish Committee-sponsored survey dealing with knowledge and remembrance of the Holocaust in seven countries: the United States, Germany, France, Great Britain, Austria, Poland, and Sweden.

The survey was conducted for the American Jewish Committee by TNS Sofres, based in Paris, and its partners elsewhere. The fieldwork was carried out in March - April 2005, employing telephone interviews. The respondents constitute representative national samples of the population in each of the seven countries, 18 years of age and older. The margin of error for the total sample in each country is plus or minus 3 percentage points.

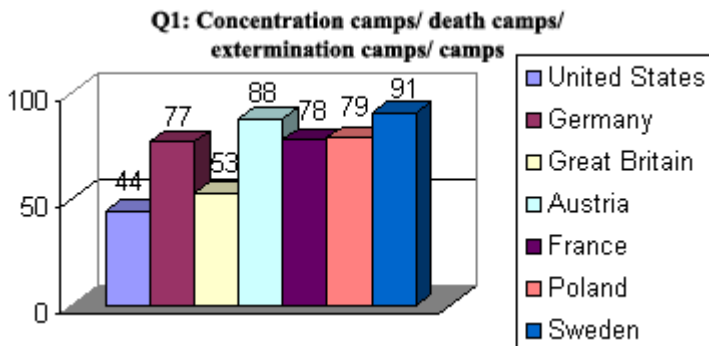

More detailed information on the survey is as follows: United States-the survey was conducted by TNS Intersearch, with 1,005 individuals interviewed; Germany- the survey was conducted by TNS Emnid, with 939 individuals interviewed; France-the survey was conducted by TNS Sofres, with 1,002 individuals interviewed; Great Britain-the survey was conducted by TNS UK, with 978 individuals interviewed; Austria-the survey was conducted by the Gallup Institute of Austria, with 1,000 individuals interviewed; Poland-the survey was conducted by TNS OBOP, with 1,001 individuals interviewed; Sweden-the survey was conducted by TNS Gallup, with 1,023 individuals interviewed.
