Asian Pacific Americans in the United States Congress

Introduction

Standard sources identify 33 Asian Pacific Americans elected to Congress from 1903 to the present.¹ Their ancestry has included Chinese, Chamorro, Filipino, Asian Indian, Japanese, Korean, Native Hawaiian, and Samoan. Of these 33 Asian Pacific American Members, 13 were Resident Commissioners from the Philippine Islands elected to the United States Congress from 1907 to 1946 (all were born in the Philippines).² Of the 20 remaining, 15 Asian Pacific Americans have served only in the House, including six Delegates, and two have served only in the Senate. Three have served in both houses: Daniel Ken Inouye (D-HI), Spark Masayuki Matsunaga (D-HI), and Daniel Kahikina Akaka (D-HI). Fourteen of the 20 Asian Pacific American Members and territorial delegates have been Democrats, and six have been Republicans. The first Asian Pacific American Member of Congress was Representative Dalip Singh Saund (D-CA), an immigrant from India who served in ¹The designation “Asian Pacific American” is commonly used to identify a person having origins in East Asia, Southeast Asia, or the Indian subcontinent including, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, Vietnam, and the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands. It is also the term used for the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus, founded in May 1994, and refers to those who have self-identified themselves as such. In this report, the “Asian Pacific American” designation encompasses a wide range of ethnic and national identities, rather than a purely geographic designation. Thus, it does not include those of Australian or New Zealand ancestry, for example. Included in this total number is one Member who is African American with Filipino heritage.

²The Philippine Islands were part of territory ceded to the United States by Spain under the Treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898. The Act of July 1902 granted the Philippine Islands the right to elect two Resident Commissioners to the United States Congress. Historically, U.S. territories were granted nonvoting Delegates to the Congress prior to statehood. Congress distinguished between the territories acquired after the Spanish-American War and those bound for statehood. Thus, Congress provided for “resident commissioners” to the United States from Puerto Rico and the Philippines. Resident Commissioners were not accorded the same status as nonvoting Delegates, although, it should be noted, the rights of Delegates have changed over time. Resident Commissioners from the Philippines were granted floor privileges in the House with the right of debate on Feb. 4, 1908. However, they did not have the right to vote or to serve on standing committees. When the Philippine Islands became a self-governing commonwealth, in transition to full sovereignty in 1935, the number of Resident Commissioners was reduced from two to one. On July 14, 1946, the Philippines became fully independent and the office of Resident Commissioner was terminated (P.L. 73-127). For the purposes of this study, a separate table listing Resident Commissioners from the Philippines is included at the end of the report.

the House from 1957 to 1963. The first Asian Pacific American Senator elected to Congress was Hiram Leong Fong (R-HI), who was seated on August 24, 1959, as one of Hawaii's first two Senators after it was admitted to the Union. Senator Fong also was the first American of Chinese ancestry elected to Congress. Earlier in this century, Jonah Kuhio Kalaniana'ole represented the territory of Hawaii from 1903 to 1922 as a non-voting Delegate to the House. He was related to the Hawaiian royal family, and also held the title of prince.

Nine Asian Pacific Americans currently serve in the 107th Congress, two in the Senate and seven in the House, including two Delegates.³ Nine Asian Pacific Americans also were elected to the 101st Congress, although only eight actually served at any one time. Senator Akaka, who was a Representative until the 101st Congress, was appointed to the Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Matsunaga. Subsequently, Representative Patsy Takemoto Mink (D-HI) won the September 1990 special election to fill the House seat vacated by Senator Akaka.

Representative Mink, a Member of the 107th Congress, was the first of the two Asian Pacific American women who have been elected to Congress. She was first elected to the House in the 89th Congress and served from 1965 to 1977. The other Asian Pacific American woman was Representative Patricia Fukuda Saiki (R-HI), who served from 1987 to 1991.

Senator Inouye, a Member of the 107th Congress, is the Asian Pacific American with the longest congressional service. He was the first American of Japanese ancestry to be elected to Congress, and he was Hawaii's first Member of the House after it was admitted to the Union. He began his service on August 24, 1959, and was subsequently elected in 1962 to the Senate where he has served since January 3, 1963.

Many of the Asian Pacific American Members and territorial delegates have had similar educational and professional backgrounds. Seven have been educators, including two high school principals, two college professors, and a president of a state college. Nine have held law degrees or practiced law; two have also been judges. Most have held elected state or local offices before seeking a congressional seat. Many have been elected to state and local governments: eight have served in state legislatures, one was a lieutenant governor, and two have been mayors.

Ten Members and territorial delegates have military experience, including two who served in other than the U.S. armed forces, and several are decorated war veterans. One was a Brigadier General.

Two Asian Pacific American Members have chaired full committees, four have chaired subcommittees and one was an acting chair of a subcommittee.

³One of the Senators, Daniel Akaka, Democrat of Hawaii, is Native Hawaiian and also Chinese American; one of the Delegates, Robert Underwood, Democrat of Guam, is Chamorro and also Hispanic.

In the 107th Congress, when the Democrats gained the majority in the Senate in June 2001,⁴ Senator Inouye became chair of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. He also assumed the chair of the Senate Committee Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense, and the chair of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation Subcommittee on Communications. Senator Inouye was the first chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence from 1976 to 1977, and was the Senate chair of the Secret Military Assistance to Iran and Nicaragua Opposition Select Committee (Iran-Contra Committee) from 1987 to 1988. From 1987 to 1994, he was chairman of the Select Committee on Indian Affairs. Senator Inouye has also chaired seven different Senate subcommittees. These include the Senate Appropriations Subcommittees on the District of Columbia (1971-1972), Foreign Operations (1973-1980, 1987-1988), and Defense (1989-1994); the Senate Commerce Subcommittees on Foreign Commerce and Tourism (1971-1976), Merchant Marine and Tourism (1977-1980), and Communications (1987-1994); and the Intelligence Subcommittee on Budget Authorization (1979-1980).

Also in June of 2001, Senator Daniel Akaka became chairman of three subcommittees: the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee on Readiness and Management Support, the Energy and National Resources Subcommittee on National Parks, Historic Preservation and Recreation, and the Governmental Affairs Subcommittee on International Security, Proliferation, and Federal Services.

Senator Matsunaga chaired the Senate Finance Subcommittee on Tourism and Sugar (1977-1980).

In the House, Representative Norman Yoshio Mineta (D-CA) was chair of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee (1993-1994). Prior to chairing the full committee, he chaired the Subcommittees on Public Buildings and Grounds (1977-1978), Oversight and Review (1979-1980), Aviation (1980-1989), and Surface Transportation (1990-1992). In the fall of 1994, Representative Robert Takeo Matsui (D-CA) served as acting chair of the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Trade. In the 105th Congress, Representative Jay C. Kim (R-CA), the first Korean American to be elected to Congress, chaired the House Transportation and Infrastructure Subcommittee on Public Buildings and Economic Development.

Asian Pacific American Members and territorial delegates have also served in congressional party leadership positions. In the Senate, Senator Inouye served as Assistant Majority Whip from 1975 to 1976 and Deputy Democratic Whip from 1981 to 1986. From 1977 to 1988, he was Secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference. Senator Inouye then chaired the Democratic Steering Committee from 1989 to 1994. Senator Matsunaga served as Chief Deputy Majority Whip from 1979 to 1980 and Chief Deputy Minority Whip from 1981 to 1986. From 1987 to 1988, Senator Matsunaga was Chief Deputy Majority Whip. Representative Mink served as Secretary of the Democratic Caucus from 1975 to 1977, Minority Regional Whip from 1997 to 1998, and has served as Minority Whip at Large since 2001.

⁴S. Res. 120, considered and agreed to on June 29, 2001, provided for Democratic majorities on all Senate standing and select committees (except for the Select Committee on Ethics which always has equal party representation).

Representative Mineta was a Majority Whip at Large from 1977 to 1981, Deputy Majority Whip from 1982 to 1994, and Deputy Minority Whip in 1995. Representative Matsui was Majority Whip at Large from 1987 to 1994 and has served as Minority Whip at Large since 1995. Representative Kim was Majority sophomore class whip in the 104th Congress. Representative Robert Anacletus Underwood (D-Guam) served as Democratic Caucus Whip at Large for the 105th and 106th Congresses. Representative Underwood also served as a Deputy Whip for the Democratic Study Group of the House Democratic Caucus in the 105th Congress. In the 106th Congress, Representative David Wu⁵ served as Democratic Freshman Class president for July-December 2000.

The bicameral Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus (CAPAC) was established on May 16, 1994. The goals of the Caucus are to work on policies and legislation of concern to the Asian Pacific American community; to educate other Members about the history, contributions, and concerns of Asian Pacific Americans; and to protect and advance the civil and constitutional rights of all Americans. Representative Mineta, one of the founders of the Caucus, served as the first chair. Upon Representative Mineta's resignation from the House, Representative Mink became chair of the Caucus and retained that position in the 105th Congress. In both the 104th and 105th Congresses, Representative Underwood was vice chair of the Caucus, and Senator Akaka served as secretary of the Caucus. In the 106th Congress, Representative Underwood chaired the Caucus, Representative Wu served as vice chair, and Senator Inouye served as secretary. In the 107th Congress, Representative Wu serves as Caucus chair, Representative Michael M. Honda serves as vice chair, and Senator Inouye continues as secretary. There are currently 32 Members who have joined the Caucus. Membership to the Caucus is also open to Members who are not of Asian Pacific heritage. For more information about the mission and activities of CAPAC, see its Web site [<http://www.house.gov/wu/capacweb>].

Representatives Mineta⁶ became the first Asian Pacific American to serve in a Cabinet position when he was sworn in as U.S. Secretary of Commerce on July 21, 2000. Under the new administration, Secretary Mineta was nominated to a second Cabinet post and was sworn in as U.S. Secretary of Transportation on January 25, 2001.
