

CRS Report for Congress

Received through the CRS Web

Civic Programs in Washington, D.C.

Susan Watkins Greenfield
Information Research Specialist
Information Research Division

Summary

A number of programs in Washington, D.C., explain the workings of the national government to a diverse range of Americans, from middle school students to senior citizens. This report highlights six of the most popular programs. The Congressional Research Service does not endorse or recommend any organization or program. This report will be updated yearly. For a guide to short-term or summer housing in Washington, see CRS Report RS20505, Relocating to the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area: Sources of Information.

Background

The costs of these civic programs typically range from $500 to more than $1,000, not including transportation to Washington, D.C. Although some offer financial help, many suggest that participants raise funds in their home communities. Interested persons should inquire with specific programs about costs, scholarships, and application forms and procedures. Internet addresses have been included for these programs. To evaluate an organization's reputation, contact the following:

Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc.
Charity Reports
4200 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 800
Arlington, VA 22203
[<http://www.give.org>]

Tel: (703) 276-0100
Fax: (703) 525-8277

National Committee on Contests and Activities of the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP)
1904 Association Drive
Reston, VA 20191
[<http://dsa.principals.org/scaa>]

Tel: (800) 253-7746
(703) 860-0200
Fax: (703) 476-5432

The NASSP produces an annual Student Contests and Activities National Advisory List of educational programs that interested persons may use to identify a wide variety of program opportunities.

Programs

Close Up Foundation

44 Canal Center Plaza
Alexandria, VA 22314
[<http://www.closeup.org>]

Tel: (800) 256-7387
TTY: (800) 336-2167

This nonprofit, nonpartisan educational organization began in 1970. It offers programs for middle school (grades 6-8) and high school students and their teachers, as well as for senior citizens.

Congressional Youth Leadership Council

1110 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Suite 320
Washington, D.C. 20005
[<http://www.cylc.org/>]

Tel: (202) 638-0008
Fax: (202) 638-4257

Begun in 1985, this nonprofit, nonpartisan civic educational organization offers three programs for high school students:

- National Young Leaders Conference
- Global Young Leaders Conference
- Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference (during presidential inaugural years only)

National Youth Leadership Forum

2020 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006
[<http://www.nylf.org/>]

Tel: (202) 347-4036
Fax: (202) 638-4252

This nonprofit educational organization, founded in 1992, offers three programs in Washington, D.C.:

- National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine
- National Youth Leadership Forum on Law
- National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence, and Diplomacy

Presidential Classroom

119 Oronoco Street
Alexandria, VA 22314
[<http://www.presidentialclassroom.org>]

Tel: (800) 441-6533

Started in 1968, the Presidential Classroom Scholars Program provides a week-long overview of the nation's government to high school students. Also offered are these five special focus programs designed to give students in-depth exposure to policy areas of national importance: the Global Business, e-Commerce and Public Policy Program; the Future World Leaders Summit; the Science, Technology and Public Policy Program; the Media and Democracy Program; and the Law and Justice in a Democracy Program.

United States Senate Youth Program

William Randolph Hearst Foundation
90 New Montgomery Street, Suite 1212
San Francisco, CA 94015
[<http://www.hearstfdn.org/ussyp>]

Tel: (415) 543-4057
(800) 841-7048
Fax: (415) 243-0760

Begun in 1962, the William Randolph Hearst Foundation provides an all-expense-paid week in Washington, D.C., for two high school student leaders from each state, the District of Columbia and the Department of Defense Education Activity to observe the federal government in action and meet key officials. Delegates, who must be elected student officers or school representatives, are selected by education officials in each state. Each student receives a $2,000 college scholarship for undergraduate studies. This program has early fall deadlines.

Washington Workshops Foundation

3222 N Street, N.W., Suite 340
Washington, D.C. 20007
[<http://www.workshops.org>]

Tel: (202) 965-3434
(800) 368-5688
Fax: (202) 965-1018

Started in 1967, this private, nonprofit, nonpartisan educational foundation offers four programs for young people interested in the workings of national government:

- Congressional Seminar
- Diplomacy and Global Affairs Seminar
- Junior High/Middle School Seminar (grades 7-9)
- Advanced Congressional Seminar/Capitol Hill Internships